

DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1907.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1909.

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1906

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

MODERN LOVE.
There was a young man in Schoharie,
Who madly loved Kitty and Carrie;
But each was so rich,
That he couldn't tell which
Of the two girls he wanted to marry.

A good smoke—the Trinket.

S. F. Faul has been appointed Road Overseer in Germantown District No. 5, vice Ben Fani resigned.

Mr. John M. Shepard has recovered from his recent illness and is able to be at his place of business.

Mr. John P. Wallace shipped his household goods to Chicago yesterday. He and his family will leave for the Windy City Sunday.

James Simpson, colored, for being drunk and trying to take the town, contributed $15.00 to the school fund in the Police Court yesterday.

Mrs. C. A. Hainline, who has been in Cincinnati for a week past, owing to the swollen condition of her face, was compelled to return to this city. She is now confined to her room at White Hall.

If you have a Diamond want I will guarantee to save you money. See my stock before buying a Diamond or Watch. We are leaders in everything in our line.

P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

Standard Sewing Machines at Gerbrich's.
See advertisement elsewhere of Special Commissioner B. B. Politt.

Mr. William Gatrell, foreman of the C. and O. yard crew, who was knocked off a car Sunday and sustained a fracture of the skull, is getting along nicely considering his serious injury.

Yesterday Walter Pence, a stepson of Mr. T. K. Proctor, together with several companions of his own age, were playing tags near their home in the East End, and because he objected to Gaines Fletcher, colored, hitting into the game, the latter out with his knife and made vicious swipes at the anatomy of young Pence, cutting a long slit in his coat. A warrant was issued for Fletcher and he will be tried in the Police Court today.

GOT HIS DOSE

Fair Warning to Other Hoodlums Who Visit the Opera-House

Nathaniel Green, colored, who was arrested for disturbing the audience at the Opera-house Tuesday evening by his boisterous conduct, was fined and costed $25.00 in Judge Whitaker's Court yesterday, the lowest penalty that could be imposed.

May it serve as a warning to others who are in the habit of annoying and spoiling the pleasure of those who attend a performance at the Opera-house.

The Rev. Sam P. Jones is scheduled to begin a revival meeting in Lexington in March.

CHEERING WORDS

The Ledger Appreciates Kindly Expressions From Its Readers

Above all other things THE LEDGER appreciates voluntary kindly expressions on the part of its readers.

The following extract is taken from a personal letter to one of Maysville's most prominent women, from a friend to whom she sends the paper at a distant Ohio city—

"I read THE LEDGER, and each one gives items of interest. I think it as good a paper as comes here. It gives a resume of all the passing events, and the editorial remarks are very clever. The 'Sons of Rest' on the Esplanade are a never-ending source of amusing comment."

The Trinket is fine. Smoke it.

Taxable property for 1906 will amount to $5,500,000 in Fleming county, the highest figure yet reached.

The Court of Appeals Tuesday, Judge Paynter writing, affirmed the judgment of the Mason Circuit Court in a case of the Commonwealth against the Central Hotel Company. The suit was by Auditor's Agent O'Donnell for the recovery of $500 state license for selling liquor under Section 4,224, Kentucky Statutes. The Mason Circuit Court held for the appellees.

There's a cure for old age, an excellent and thorough one. There is nothing sensational about it. It is the best the doctors can find under existing circumstances. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. J. J. Wood & Son.

MASS MEETING
Council Chamber Monday, February 5th, 1906 at 1:30 p. m. Every farmer in Mason county is urged to be present at 1:30 o'clock next Monday, County Court Day, at the Council Chamber in Maysville, Ky., for the purpose of getting arrangements completed for the 7th annual Tobacco Fair. The tobacco buyers are urged to be present. Let every precinct in the county be well represented. The time is short and all arrangements must be completed to make this a grand success. Come.

TAKE A LOOK AND SEE.
You will agree our Clover Seed is best.

D. HECHINGER & CO.

Representative Wilt of Fleming county has introduced a bill at Frankfort prohibiting a Deputy Court Clerk from practicing law.

Mr. C. M. Foxworthy has sold his interest in the business of S. E. Foxworthy & Co., at Mt. Carmel to his brother, Mr. Clifton Foxworthy.

Dr. R. M. Skinner of Flemingsburg has bought a 114 acre farm near Johnson for $6,000.

Citizens in the vicinity of Martha Mills, in Fleming county, are seeking to abolish and destroy the old Martha Mills dam which was constructed sometime in the '20's.

Mr. Bert McClintock of Millersburg is in this county to buy horses and mules to ship to Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller have rented their farm near Hiett's Chapel, O., and will move to Aberdeen about March 1st.

This is the season to buy good Monumental work cheap. See MURRAY & THOMAS.

The Rev. George H. Harris, Rector of the Church of the Nativity, has been in Lexington this week attending the ecclesiastical celebrations of the Diocese.

EXECUTOR'S SALE!

I will on Saturday, February 3d, 1906, begin a closing-out sale of the stock of about $15,000 worth of Drygoods, Notions, Underwear, etc., belonging to the estate of the late Thomas Y. Nesbitt, at the store, Northeast corner Second and Sutton streets, Maysville, Ky., where said Thomas Y. Nesbitt conducted his business under the name of Nesbitt & Co. The store will be closed on next Friday, February 2d, to mark down goods. This stock of goods must now be sold in order to enable me to make settlement of his estate.

J. M. NESBITT,
Executor T. Y. Nesbitt.

It's White Damask Today

Our Linen Department is on dress parade and it's as proud as a peacock over the sumptuous Linens on display. Not make-believe linen, but genuine, made of properly cultivated and seasoned flax. No cotton cunningly twisted in the thread—it's pure linen through and through. We emphasize this on account of small prices and the inclination of some dealers to proclaim "All linen" when they ought to say "part cotton."

50c Yard Bleached and unbleached Irish linen 68 in. wide. Large range of patterns.

75c Yard Good enough for any occasion, sturdy enough for everyday wear.

89c Yard Closely woven and heavy. An excellent Irish weave. Full 72 in. wide.

$1 Yard Satin finish, grass bleached. No chemical bleaching ever weakened this sturdy linen.

$1.25 Yard The pattern stands out boldly in high luster on a dull finished background. Very effective.

$1.50 Yard Exquisite patterns in satisfying variety. 72 in. wide.

$1.75 Yard Smooth as satin. Laundered with a gloss that throws out the pattern in strong relief.

$2 Yard For "dress up" occasions. Handsome enough to give a banquet air to a dinner of herbs.

$2.50 Yard Superb damasks that measure full 2 1/4 yards wide, in exquisite floral and geometrical patterns.

From here the price ascension gradually reaches $3 1/2, which is our quality limit.

MAYSVILLE'S SPEEDWAYS

The Public Streets Being Used For High-Mettled Roadsters

An incident occurred the other morning at the corner of Second and Market, which for a time promised great things for the hungry news gatherers, but it fizzled out and nobody was maimed or killed.

Horse fanciers were speeding their thoroughbreds. One was driving East and one West on Second, and another came down Market at a 2:40 clip, the whole push meeting at the same time at the intersection of the two streets.

For a few minutes there was a mixup and things looked decidedly promising for a killing. Horses reared up on their hind legs and cut all kinds of capers, creating for the time being excitement a-plenty.

A popular East End young lady was in the act of crossing the street at the time and was caught in the mesh, and her escape from serious injury was fortunate as well as miraculous.

While it is a heartful sight to see peppery thoroughbreds driven about the streets in up-to-date rigs, the owners should take into consideration the fact that the public thoroughfares are not laid out as race courses, and the speed of the horses should be regulated with due regard and consideration for pedestrians who have right of way at all street crossings.

MR. JAMES ALLEY.

Mr. James Alley, aged 91, died last night at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Joseph Trisler, in East Second street, of old age.

He was an old time Christian gentleman. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

It's powerful good for the poor that the winter is so nearly over before Mr. MITCHELL orders his miners to strike.

Those who see fit to abuse the Rev. Dr. E. L. POWELL for his stand in pardoning Kentucky's political prisoners and refugees, only advertise their own vindictive spirit.

THERE are only 90 men in Jail at Chicago charged with murder. No wonder the Anti-Crime League is unanimous for a $10,000 saloon license, to help pay Court expenses and reduce the number of dens.

THE statement of the Hon. CHARLES A. BOOKWALTER, ex-Mayor of Indianapolis, throws no new light on TOM CAMPBELL. Indeed, there was no depth to which that late unlamented scoundrel would not descend.

A. F. NORTON, the Kokomo (Ind.) merchant who tried to conduct several stores in that vicinity "as CHRIST would," is now trying to gain a settlement with his creditors. He has only $10,000 with which to pay $27,000; but if he does "as CHRIST would," he will settle at 100 cents on the dollar.

THE Washington correspondent of The Times-Star says those who have been watching the tactics of Senator TILLMAN are wondering what his animosity for the President will lead him to do next. Mr. TILLMAN has never forgiven President ROOSEVELT for notifying him on a certain occasion some two years ago that an invitation to attend a dinner at the White House had been withdrawn. A nephew of Senator TILLMAN, then Lieutenant-Governor of South Carolina, who subsequently became notorious by the murder of a distinguished Editor of Columbia, had been exceptionally offensive in his comments about President ROOSEVELT, and Mr. ROOSEVELT had shown his resentment by excluding Senator TILLMAN from his table. Undoubtedly, had TILLMAN adopted the stage he could have made a name for himself as an actor. Recently he has entrenched his position as the prize crying member of the Senate. He shed a flood of tears during his speech in the Senate over the expulsion of Mrs. MORRIS from the White House. In referring to womanhood and in paying his tribute to a woman as a mother, wife, sister and daughter, Mr. TILLMAN'S feelings overcame him and he sobbed aloud and for a time was unable to proceed with his speech. For a second time, when speaking of his own mother, tears welled to his eyes again and his voice was choked with sobs. It is remembered that Mr. TILLMAN was affected to tears once before. It was during a speech against the Negro in the South, when he branched off and told the story of his old Negro "mammy nurse," who had nursed him as fondly as a mother, and the recollections of the old woman, black though she had been, caused tears to come to his eyes. But he did not lose himself on that occasion as completely as he did during the Morris debate.

THE REV. DR. E. L. POWELL

Makes Strong Appeal to the Governor For Pardoning Political Prisoners Now Held in Kentucky.

The Rev. Dr. E. L. Powell of Louisville, in his sermon on "The Far Country" at Macaulay's Theater last Sunday night, again made an appeal to the Governor to pardon political prisoners now being held in the prisons of Kentucky. The Theater was crowded, many being turned away unable to gain admittance.

The Doctor took for his text the 13th verse, 15th chapter, of Luke's Gospel: "And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living."

In concluding a powerful and classic sermon on "The Prodigal Son," Doctor Powell said—

"I have been hesitating whether to conclude this sermon with a matter somewhat in line with the message I have been bringing to you. I do so with some hesitancy, and yet with the feeling that I am speaking in the name of that love which found its highest joy in rescue and redemption. On last Sunday evening, in closing a sermon, and in referring to the home-coming we are soon to celebrate in the city of Louisville, I suggested that it would be lifting our political life into the realm of religion if the Governor of the state would exercise his executive clemency in extending pardon to men whose names are associated with an awful crime, which I need not name specifically. I dare not minimize the crime.

"I dare not affirm that justice should not be meted out to the guilty, but these men, some of whom have been in prison for four or five years, and some of whom are wanderers on the face of the earth, are not known, beyond the shadow of a doubt, to be criminals. If guilty, depend upon it, that in their far country they have known the loneliness and the wretchedness and the shame and the self-loathing of the criminal. If not guilty, it has all been a huge miscarriage of justice. But would it not be a splendid thing, would it not mean the introduction of a new spirit into a new Kentucky, if the Governor of the state, on the occasion of this grand reunion of former Kentuckians, should proclaim a political amnesty?"

"Oh, the bands would play then, 'My Old Kentucky Home,' and the tears would flow.

Democrat and Republican would clasp hands as they should say: 'Henceforth we are antagonists not over a dead issue, or rather a dead issue that is forever resurrected, henceforth we are honorable antagonists over modern questions that may come up; we fight as brothers, we stand against each other as one party men against another party man. The day of political asperity has passed for us. The old miserable issues are done with. Let us love one another.' I wonder if such a thing would be possible? I was gratified to find that a number of papers in the state—I don't know how they got hold of it—referred to this sermon last Sunday night in most favorable terms. Others were bitter in their denunciation.

"So be it. Let justice confuse herself to the realm of justice; let the Judge do his duty, but the Governor is invested with that fine thing called Executive Clemency which is outside the realm of law, and there are high occasions when it can be exercised, even towards a criminal, for the sake of the larger good—for the common weal of the land that we love. Would it not mean more to Kentucky for these criminals, if they are criminals, to be pardoned, than to have each one of them placed in the penitentiary evermore, having brought before us an issue that should generate bitterness, and should make impossible fraternity as between political antagonists?"

"I would like to have this home-coming represent somewhat even in civil affairs the spirit of the old prodigal story. I would like to have the bells ringing 'Coming home,' to some of these wanderers. I would not minimize their crime by killing the fatted calf or by putting the ring on their fingers or the shoes on their feet; but as a civil officer I would say to them, Take the back seat and be satisfied to occupy it, but none the less we grant you the privileges of the family board. There are some things that come to a man as a sort of inspiration. I do not know how this thought came to me save as an inspiration, but I verily believe that it would be the best thing that the Democratic Governor could do, the best in the interests of justice, the best for the sake of the Commonwealth, and I believe that it would bring in a new day for this old Kentucky of ours upon which the sun shines bright, and make her sons and daughters come more and more to love the old home and to rejoice in all her hallowed associations and her splendid and heroic memories."

Mrs. Julius Paulson of Dewitt, Ia., threw herself and her three children off a bridge into a creek. Two children and the mother were drowned.

at the First Presbyterian Church was a most elaborate affair. It was the outcome of a friendly contest inaugurated by the Young Ladies' Band, which had been divided into two opposing sides, the Whites and the Reds. The object of the contest was to see which side could raise the largest sum of money for the Church. After three months' work the report at a meeting held Monday night showed the Reds the winners. In accordance with the agreement the defeated side, the Whites, ban-queted their more fortunate rivals last night, and the dinner was served in the most elaborate style. The menu consisted of the choicest delicacies, served in courses, and the affair throughout made the most charming possible.

LITTLE JOHNNY JONES.

The Richmond (Va.) News Leader of January 28th says—

"Praised as having been a talk of New York and other larger cities of the country 'Little Johnny Jones' was presented last night at the Academy of Music before one of the largest audiences of the season to the thorough satisfaction of all. It is characterized with snap and ginger throughout, and was presented by one of the most capable companies ever seen in Richmond. The attraction is nothing short of a musical melodrama; high toned and clever at all stages. The staging is elaborate and the costumes pretty and unusually attractive, fresh and striking. The singing is all good, the chorus being an aggregation of singing artists of rare merit, and trained to perfection."

of empties for Pittsburgh.

The river is now at an excellent boating stage and past the danger of a freeze-up.

J. Peter Seybold, an old steamboat engineer, is dead at Wheeling, aged 70. He leaves an estate valued at $75,000.

The J. B. Williams has gone South from Louisville with 844,000 bushels of coal, all for the New Orleans market.

The Diamond Coal Company of Pittsburgh has purchased the towboat B. D. Wood from the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coko
Company for about $8,000.

It is learned that the Pittsburgh and Big Sandy Packet Company is to have a new boat built in the next few months to operate in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati trade. Rivermeussy the new craft will take the place of the Keystone State, which will be operated in the Cincinnati-Louisville trade. The new boat will be one of the finest ever built by the Packet Company and will be patterned after the Queen City and Virginia.

The other day there was only one person present to see Berlin's educated horse, Hans, do his tricks. When Hans was asked how many people were present he let his hind hoofs fly and kicked the spectator down, thus replying "One."
The unfortunate was kicked in the face and very badly hurt.

Across the River

Mrs. James Case was a Manchester visitor Monday.

Mrs. Cleve Clark and little son, Woodruff, of Newport, are the guests of relatives here.

Mrs. William Greenlee of West Union has been here several days renewing old acquaintances.

Prof. Schatzmann visited his parents near Russellville Saturday. His father has been quite ill for sometime.

The "Ladies Aid" have in rehearsal the "Sweet Sisters" which will be rendered at Masonic Hall Friday night, February 2d.

The entertainment given at the Masonic Hall Thursday night, under the direction of Messrs. Clark and Reed, was much enjoyed by all who attended. Outten's orchestra added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The condition of Captain W. B. Ellis is much improved.

The Charter Oak Lodge I. O. O. F. gave their annual banquet Saturday night.

Mr. Jack Campbell who moved to Bradyville some time ago is seriously ill again.

Mr. J. P. Fleming, who had the misfortune to break his leg some weeks ago, is getting along nicely.

Mr. T. F. Ellis of Washington, D. C., who was called here by the sickness of his father, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. C. B. Sutton of Walnut Hills, after visiting friends at Manchester and this place, returned to her home Monday.

Rev. W. F. Martin preached an able and practical sermon at the M. E. Church Sunday night to a large and appreciative audience.

The building in Market street recently purchased by the Ohio Valley Mills Co. from Mrs. C. Riedle is being repaired and will be used as a cooper shop.

Only three weeks until the Tobacco Fair. Are you ready for it?

With the county and city taxes combined, it will be rather an expensive luxury to own a dog, to say nothing of his feed. The dog tax has passed one branch of the Legislature.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has reached the acme of progress in train tonnage, its average load last year having been 557 tons of revenue tonnage per train. If company tonnage be included an average of 585 tons per train is recorded.

Voice of the People

ISLE OF SPICE.

Editor Ledger: The Bulletin's critic, for fear of being shocked, should hereafter confine himself only to kindergarten shows. He is too good-good for performances such as that we so thoroughly enjoyed Tuesday night. The three "alleged" comedians he deprecates are the best seen here for years—as evidenced by the numerous recalls they were favored with by almost the entire audience, which composed the largest and most critical the house contained this season, and almost without a dissenting voice pronounced the show the most enjoyable Maysville has been treated to for years; in fact, many say the best ever seen here.

Special Commissioner's Sale

MASON CIRCUIT COURT.

Anna Morgan Hunter et als. In Equity.

In obedience to a judgment and order of sale of the Mason Circuit Court, rendered in the above mentioned cause at the November term, 1908, I shall, on Monday, February 5th, 1909,

at 10 o'clock a. m., on the premises in Maysville, Ky., proceed to sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on a credit of six and twelve months the following real property, to-wit:

A certain lot or parcel of ground situated in the First Ward of the City of Maysville, Mason county, Kentucky, and more particularly described as beginning in the center of a 14-foot alley, opened by Rev. R. C. Grundy, on Second street near the Western limits of Maysville; thence with said alley to the Ohio river at low water mark; thence up said river at low water mark to the line of the lot of ground with the brick building thereon, once owned by Robert H. Newell, and owned in November, 1881, by Mrs. E. Paul; thence with the line of said lot to Second street and thence with Second street to the beginning, with certain tenant houses and stable thereon, and subject to the right of way of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad Company across said lot. Being the same lot or parcel of land conveyed Henry C. Morgan by the Bank of Maysville on the 23d day of November, 1881, by deed recorded in Deed Book 83, page 232, Mason County Court records. The purchaser must be prepared to promptly execute bonds, with approved security, for the purchase price, which bonds shall bear legal interest from day of sale until paid, and a lien will be retained on the property sold.

B. B. POLLITT,
Special Commissioner,
Thomas R. Plister, Solicitor & Slatery, Attorneys.

Sorosis Skirts

Cheap Unreliable Clothing

Can at all times be had at small prices, but the opportunity to buy high-class, stylish, fresh clothing at honestly reduced prices is not often at hand. We handle no shoddy, no clothing below the price which guarantees satisfaction. The fine Tibbets, Cheviots, Worstedes, Cashmeres, &c., of the latest patterns and design, were bought to supply our regular trade and were marked at a reasonable profit in plain figures, but a mild winter causes us to offer them at a reduced price. We call your attention especially to our blacks, blues and staple worsted. Each purchase guaranteed. Money refunded if for any cause you may want it. (This we have always offered.) Children's, Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats in this, the real reduction sale. You undoubtedly will be pleased and profited if you visit
